With the summer upon us the doctors at Family Vision Center would like to remind you about the importance of keeping your eyes healthy and protected throughout the summer months. With an over abundance of sunshine here are some ways to help counteract the effects of sun damage on the eye.

- Eat foods rich in Vitamins A, C & E, along with beta-carotene and zinc.
- Good sources of nutrition to help promote eye health and reverse the effects of sun damage include; dark green vegetables, carrots and blueberries.
- Always wear protective eye wear when in the sun for long periods of time. (Sunglasses with both UVA and UVB protection.)

We hope you have a happy and safe summer!

Contact lenses for the Presbyopic!

After age 40, the single pair of glasses or contact lenses you previously wore may no longer give you clear vision at all distances. This is caused by presbyopia, a vision problem which affects us beginning in middle age and reduces our ability to see at all distances. Many vision correction options are available, such as presbyopia surgery, eyeglasses and multi-focal or bifocal contact lenses.

The main sign that you're developing presbyopia is that you need to hold newspapers or other reading material farther from your eyes in order to see them clearly.

Take this test from Bausch and Lomb, to see if you may be presbyopic!
